PRESENTATION BY FAMILY RESOURCE CENTER

Relevant Immigration Issues: Presentation of relevant immigration issues by Bill Lail, Human Services Planner, of the Family Resource Center

Bill Lail, Director of the Family Resource Center, stated that the Chatham Family Resource Center (FRC) is a direct community response to Hispanic immigration to Chatham County; that the FRC was created in 1994 under the health department administration; that the need for this new entity was created by unprecedented immigration; that the County’s largest provider of prenatal care (up to 70% Hispanic clients) needed a comprehensive health and community education program for immigrants; that over 50% of the County’s only full-time pediatrician’s caseload are Hispanic children; that 40% of the town’s kindergarten class is Hispanic; that there are no licensed Hispanic childcare centers; that well over half the town’s workforce is Hispanic; that over 35% of Siler City’s population is Hispanic; that many Hispanics are undocumented and their children are US citizens; that given this scenario, the community needed a new way to respond to this large-scale immigration; that the community saw the need to build a center and did so; that the center provided, among other things, a low-cost facility in which local agencies and non-profit organization can operate (i.e. health department, Smart Start, Girl Scouts, Brownie Troops, NA, AA, etc.), a facility in which out-of-area resource agencies can operate to bring services to Siler city residents (i.e. WIC, Americorps Program, Head Start, Frank Porter Graham, Baby Love, etc.), a testing ground for innovative programs with diverse funding streams, a one-stop walk-in resource for all residents, a fully functional high-visibility site for local education/training activities including two child-care centers, kitchen, four classrooms, five offices, large meeting hall, parking, and playground, a facility for study by university and community college students serving internships in Chatham County, a much-needed comprehensive Hispanics services and orientation center.

Mr. Lail shared the objectives of the Family Resource Center, stated that the largest issue facing the community is the new immigrant population, and illustrated the interdependency of industry, community and government on this issue. He stated that the FRC Board of Directors has implemented strategies for sustainability that they believe will provide future facility funding and listed same.

Commissioner Pollard asked that the Board express their appreciation in a well-developed resolution for the vision and hard work by Bill Lail, who worked through the immigration issue, who sought support of at least five of the County’s top industries; which has put Chatham County above other counties and kept it lean; and that industry has learned the value of participating in its programs.

Commissioner Phillips stated that he was very proud of the Family Resource Center; that he hopes that as the organization matures in its relationship between the client/community, that more people will become part of the Board.
