PERSONNEL MATTER

The Chair announced that the Board would hear Rebecca Henley’s appeal from being dismissed. Mrs. Henley was personally present and represented by attorney David Rooks of Chapel Hill, NC.

Prior to the beginning of the personnel hearing for Rebecca Henley, a waiver of confidentiality was filed with the Clerk to the Board. Counsel for Mrs. Henley stated in open session that Mrs. Henley desired the hearing to be public. A summary of the witness’ testimony at the personnel hearing is as follows:

Mrs. Barbara Garcia, Director of Library Services for Chatham County was the first witness called on behalf of the County.

She testified that on May 20, 1994 she went to the Pittsboro Library for the purpose of having a meeting with Rebecca Henley to discuss complaints she had had primarily concerning Mrs. Henley’s treatment of fellow employees, particularly an employee under her supervision. Mrs. Garcia had called Mrs. Henley the previous afternoon and notified her of the meeting. Mrs. Henley had agreed to meet at 9:00 AM. on May 28, 1994. Shortly after the telephone conference in which the meeting was arranged, Mrs. Henley called Mrs. Garcia and communicated her refusal to meet unless Mrs. Garcia would provide her with a written agenda prior to the meeting. Mrs. Garcia indicated to Mrs. Henley at that time there would be no written agenda but they would have the meeting.

Mrs. Garcia arrived at the library shortly before or about the time scheduled for the meeting and advised Mrs. Henley that it was time to begin the meeting. At that time, there were no persons present, except for Mrs. Henley and Mrs. Garcia. Mrs. Henley stated in a loud voice to Mrs. Garcia that she refused to meet unless she had a written agenda and a witness present and continued to go about her work at the library. Mrs. Garcia repeatedly told Mrs. Henley that they needed to have the meeting. Each time Mrs. Henley replied, her voice got louder and she kept repeating that she refused to meet without a written agenda and without a witness present. Mrs. Henley walked away from Mrs. Garcia to a different area of the library and Mrs. Garcia walked over to her and continued to plead with her to have the meeting. At that time, Mrs. Henley yelled at Mrs. Garcia, “If you don’t get off my back, I’m going to slap the hell out of you.” At this same time, Mrs. Henley shook a pen in Mrs. Garcia’s face in a very threatening manner, placing Mrs. Garcia in fear of an immediate assault. Mrs. Garcia then took a few minutes to compose herself and called the County Manager and asked him to come to the Pittsboro library. Mr. Shivar did go to the library and discuss this matter with Mrs. Garcia. Mrs. Henley had by this time left the library without permission and remained away from the library although she was scheduled to work on this date. Mrs. Garcia reiterated to the County Manager what had happened that morning and advised the Manager.
Mrs. Garcia also testified that Mrs. Henley had been scheduled to attend a workshop in Burlington on April 26, 1994 but that she did not show and did not contact Mrs. Garcia to let her know that she would not attend and did not contact Mrs. Garcia until the workshop was over.

In accordance with the County personnel ordinance, Mrs. Garcia wrote Mrs. Henley a letter advising her that she was recommending dismissal and scheduling a pre-dismissal conference with the County Manager.

The second witness called on behalf of the County was the County Manager, Mr. Ben Shivar.

Mr. Shivar testified that on the morning of May 20, 1994, he received a telephone call in his office from Mrs. Barbara Garcia, Director of Library Services for Chatham County, that Mrs. Garcia was very upset and requested that he come to the library to discuss a matter with her. Mr. Shivar went to the library and did discuss the matter with Mrs. Garcia and later, on May 27, 1994, held a pre-dismissal conference with Mrs. Henley and Mrs. Garcia being present. He testified that Mrs. Henley admitted she had yelled at Mrs. Garcia, that she had shaken the pen in Mrs. Garcia’s face, and that she had said, “If you don’t get off my back, I’m going to slap the hell out of you.” She further admitted that she had refused to meet with Mrs. Garcia without a written agenda and without a witness being present. Mr. Shivar gave Mrs. Henley an opportunity to tell her version of the incident and asked for names of any witnesses. Following the pre-dismissal conference with Mrs. Henley, the County Manager talked with other persons who had been suggested by either Mrs. Henley or Mrs. Garcia and determined that the misconduct of Mrs. Henley on the occasion in question was definitely substantiated. He also considered Mrs. Henley’s personnel file which indicated previous incidents of insubordination and wrote her a letter of dismissal which appears in the personnel file.

Mrs. Rebecca Henley, testified in her own behalf that she had refused to meet with her supervisor, Mrs. Garcia, on May 20, 1994 without a written agenda and a witness present. She also admitted that she had shaken the pen in Mrs. Garcia’s face and stated that, “If you don’t get off my back, I’m going to slap the hell out of you.” Further, she said that she told Mrs. Garcia that she would yell at her at the top of her lungs anytime she desired. Mrs. Henley went on to contend that Mrs. Garcia had provoked her on the occasion in question but offered no other explanation for her conduct. She further stated that she had worked for the library some fourteen years and had directed the Pittsboro Memorial Library through a period of development and growth.

Mrs. Henley testified that she had suffered from tension headaches for several years and that she was suffering from one of them the day on which she was supposed to go to the workshop in Burlington. Mrs. Henley stated that she called the Burlington Library and left a message with Mrs. Julie Walker to the effect that she would not be attending the workshop. Mrs. Henley did not ask to speak to Mrs. Garcia, her supervisor, or any other employee of the County library system. She merely left a message with Mrs. Julie Walker, of the regional office, that she would not attend the meeting, and did not request that the message be relayed to Mrs. Garcia.

Mrs. Henley also offered as a witness in her behalf, Mrs. Patricia Rounds, who testified that she is and was a part-time employee of the library and that she had a good working relationship with Mrs. Henley and that she felt that Mrs. Henley had a good working relationship with the employees. Another witness, Connie McAdams Smith, testified that she is now employed by Child Care Networks, but that she was previously a part-time employee at the Pittsboro Library and that she felt that Mrs. Henley had a good working relationship with the employees. Both of these witnesses testified that they had not witnessed Mrs. Henley being rude or disrespectful toward Mrs. Gladys Thomas. They further testified that in their opinion Mrs. Henley was a good librarian and a good supervisor.
Following the testimony by Mrs. Henley's witnesses, the County offered in rebuttal several witnesses. Mrs. Margaret Blanchard testified that she is the Director of the Regional Library System and at one time had personnel responsibility for the personnel who worked in the Chatham County Library System but that since about 1988, she has not had personnel responsibility but has had other over-sight responsibilities for the library system in Chatham County and she had numerous and frequent contacts with the Chatham County library system and with Mrs. Rebecca Henley in particular. She testified that Mrs. Henley had a great amount of difficulty in “getting along with” the other personnel in the regional library system and that there were only three persons in the entire system of approximately thirty people that Mrs. Henley did “get along with”. She testified also that she had been at the Wren Library in Siler City on an occasion when Mrs. Ann Arrowood, who was at that time Mrs. Henley’s supervisor, to attend and witness a meeting that Mrs. Arrowood had scheduled to discuss problems with Mrs. Henley. She stated that when Mrs. Henley arrived for the meeting, she demanded of Mrs. Arrowood why Mrs. Blanchard was there and refused to meet with Mrs. Arrowood who was then her supervisor and left without permission prior to the beginning of the meeting. She also testified that there were problems with the Pittsboro branch of the library that had primarily to do with Mrs. Henley, the head librarian at the Pittsboro Library.

Mrs. Ann Arrowood, was called by the County and testified as follows:

Mrs. Ann Arrowood testified that she was the Chatham County Director of Library Services from July 1, 1988 to June 11, 1993 and during that time, Mrs. Rebecca Henley was the head librarian for the Pittsboro Library. She further testified that Mrs. Henley would not accept supervision and that she always felt that the County had one set of rules for all of the employees except Mrs. Henley and that there had to be a separate set of rules just for Mrs. Henley because she would not follow the rules of the County that applied to everyone. She testified that Mrs. Henley had been very insubordinate to her, had yelled at her and “blown up” at her; that at the time she, Mrs. Arrowood, did not respond to Mrs. Henley but that after thinking about it, realized that such insubordinate conduct could not go unnoticed. Thereupon she scheduled a meeting with Mrs. Henley and feeling that she should have a witness present, asked her supervisor, Mrs. Margaret Blanchard, Director of the Regional Library Service, to attend the meeting. The meeting was scheduled for a date and time at Wren Memorial Library in Siler City. Mrs. Blanchard and Mrs. Arrowood were at the Wren Library for the meeting when Mrs. Henley appeared. Upon learning that Mrs. Blanchard would also be at the meeting, Mrs. Henley refused to meet and left without permission of her supervisor.

Mrs. Arrowood further testified that there were numerous other times when she could not get Mrs. Henley to accept supervision and that she left her position as Director of Library Services for Chatham County significantly because of difficulties caused by Mrs. Henley’s refusal to accept supervision and her refusal to follow rules in this operation of the library.

The County next offered Mrs. Gladys Thomas, who was previously an employee of the County library system with duties at the Pittsboro Library on a part-time basis. She testified that Mrs. Henley was her immediate supervisor and that she (Mrs. Henley) gave Mrs. Thomas a good evaluation but later told her that she was worthless and that the other library employees had to go behind her and clean up her work. Mrs. Thomas further testified that she could not understand why Mrs. Henley would give her a good rating and later tell her that she was a worthless employee. This had a significant adverse effect upon Mrs. Thomas and she subsequently resigned her job at the library.
