SCI-FI RULES!

Big fun!

by Tony DiTerlizzi

With his best friend Yamagoo the jellyfish by his side, Meno, the friendly and fun-loving space elf, describes his favorite things in all the world in this easy reader with full-color illustrations.

Toys in space

by Mini Grey

A group of toys, left outside in the garden at night for the very first time, begins to feel afraid but the WonderDoll distracts them by weaving a story of lost toys, space travel and a strange alien.

Astro Bunnies

by Christine Loomis

Up and away, a group of curious bunnies set their sights for the skies above and go on a grand adventure to space where they encounter alien bunnies, measure comets, gather moon dust, and more.

The robot and the bluebird

by David Lucas

Sitting alone atop a pile of rubbish and yearning for happiness, a sad Robot gets the best surprise of his life when he offers a cold Bluebird a place to rest inside his chest where his heart used to be on a windy, wintry day, in a moving tale about kindness, generosity, and the beauty of friendship.

Skippyjon Jones-- lost in spice

by Judith Byron Schachner

Determined to prove that the planet Mars is covered in spicy red pepper, Skippy the kitty boy ventures on an adventure into space where he narrowly escapes falling into craters and meets aliens along the way, in an exciting bilingual picture book with Spanish phrases.

June 29, 1999

by David Wiesner

A celebrated science-fantasy adventure in rollicking verse and adorned with spectacular illustrations stars Holly Evans, a visionary third grader who attempts to grow some strange seedlings far above the earth. Reprint.
